In all our history, there has always been one universal topic of discussion that no two cultures have agreed on - Love. From poetry to psychology, many avenues have spent decades trying to figure out what Love is and why it has such a profound hold on humanity. Truthfully, this has been my personal pursuit for as long as I can remember. What lies inside these pages is that journey. I have taken what I have learned from life through the years and partnered it with what I have learned from God. The result is a very powerful, in-depth exploration of the very nature of the self and who God is. My hope with writing this has been two-fold: to organize my own thoughts and understand them but also to share this revelation with any and all who is willing to embark on this sojourn with me. What I believe you will find is not just a new perspective on love or religion, but a world-changing perception of the self, God, and everyone around you. What is true love? Very simply put, true love is the person you were created to be; it is your Identity - it is who you are.
