Food Plane Soup: The Desert Island Letters Ron-Luc Nickell

When the dot com bubble burst in the fall of 2001, the newly laid-off author spent three months on Grand Turk in the Turks & Caicos Islands of the British West Indies. This collection comprises the weekly email updates with which he entertained and stymied his audience back home. It follows his misadventures with backwardness and corruption in a colony no longer wanted by its rulers, dealing with the events of September 11 in a foreign country, and the imminent nervous breakdown which threatened his sanity and forced him back into "civilization."

Lavonne Ouellette:

As a pupil, I exactly feel bored for you to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or make a summary for some publication, they are complained. Just minor students that have reading's heart or real their interest. They just do what the instructor wants, like asked to the library. They go to there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that reading is not important, boring and also can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for you. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country.
